

Speaker 1: Gaudi is an artist and architect whose work stands alone. Although his architectural style is classified as Art Nouveau because he uses natural forms and curving lines, Gaudi's work is nothing like what has come before. In fact, there's been little to compare with it afterwards. His apartment complex, Casa Mila in Barcelona, Spain has a facade that waves, ripples and undulates. Additionally, the ironwork on the balconies look like seaweed. Even the chimneys are unique and ornamental. Casa Mila is just one of several Gaudi important works in Barcelona. I hope you can view the optional video to get more of a flavor his important work.
