

Speaker: Globalization is a huge force in today's society. Communication and access to information as well as globalized manufacturing is changing our world literally, month by month. There's a greater awareness worldwide of the richness of cultural diversity. This has had a profound impact upon the arts. At the same time, globalization seems to be erasing that diversity and creating a more homogeneous culture worldwide. Who knows where it will all lead?

[00:00:32] [END OF AUDIO]