

Narrator: Many different styles were born out of the post World War II era. All of these styles are still being practiced and are evolving today. Basically, you can put them into two categories. There's the ones that are abstract without any subject matter and then those that take known forms or things that we're familiar with and combine them in unusual and surprising ways. Hold on your hands, it's going to be a wild and fun ride.

[00:00:27] [END OF AUDIO]