

Speaker: Women's roles shifted dramatically as women got politically involved, demanding equal pay for equal work and better access to childcare as well as abortion rights. Things we take for granted today weren't necessarily true for women in the 1960s and early '70s. I remember my mother requesting permission in 1969 to wear a pantsuit to work as a school teacher. When I started teaching in 1983, most teachers didn't wear dresses to work.
